THE REUBEN AND THE RACE HORSES

Joseph Riga and Mr. Cohen, He of the Dundaff Surname, Have a Race. Horses May Be Running Yet.

River street was the scene of excitement and fun yesterday, when Reuben Cohen and Joseph Riga met yesterday, each holding the reins over fast horses.

Though it was the Sabbath for one of them, both were in an argument within a few minutes' conversation, in regard to the speed of their animals. After both had used up their list of adjectives in describing the merits of their noble steeds, money began to make its appearance and a stakeholder appointed to hold the money and pay it over to the man whose horse won in a brush up River and Dundaff streets.

"Cohen's horse showed an inclination to come to a dead halt before the race was any more than started, but Reuben called into use his whip and was soon on even terms with Riga. Both, on passing Seventh avenue, were on the lead run, and it was not until an hour after the race had started that man had returned to the starting point to claim the purse. It is a question whether they were able to reach the horses before they had passed Pleasant Mount, or some other place. A lost, strayed or stolen ad, will likely locate them.

STROKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ling, of Farview Street, in Precarious Condition.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ling, who resides at the home of her son-in-law, James Ling, on Farview street, was stricken with paralysis, and last night it was the attending physician's opinion that the chances, because of her old age, were against her recovery.

General Gordon Tomorrow Night.

General Gordon will be at the Grand tomorrow night to deliver his celebrated lecture, "The Last Days of the Confederacy." There is no doubt about the crowded audience that will fill the opera house, and of the warmth of the reception that will be given this distinguished soldier and statesman. He is the most splendid representative of the South, and surrounding him is an historical interest that appeals strongly, even to those who have the least interest in the history of our nation. It is expected that the old soldiers of the Grand Army of the Republic will show their appreciation of General Gordon's coming by being present in large numbers and in uniform. School children will be admitted to the gallery for ten cents.

Cut an Artery.

Charles Dugan, of New Cemetery, is nursing a bad wound on his left arm. A few days ago he was home from a razor, and in doing so made some kind of a miscalculation, which caused him to cut himself, severing an artery. Prompt surgical treatment availed, and Mr. Dugan will be able to follow his duties again in a short time.

MORE RACING ON ICE.

Another Afternoon of Sport Expected at Crystal Lake, Wednesday Afternoon.

Another afternoon of exciting sport is expected on Wednesday afternoon, when there will be more horse races on the ice at Crystal Lake.

As will be recalled, the first races held a few weeks ago were a success, and there has been interest in the same manifested in the discussions of the day's doings that it was decided to have another afternoon of the same sort of competition and sport.

The entries for the free-for-all, for which the purse is a $10 blanket, are as follows: Levi Patterson, Epton Gil and Wilkes Medlin; John J. Simpson, May Colbert, Spencer Reed, Tankhamock, Abel W. and King Medlin; Smith Gordon, Scranton, Post Haste; Etna Scranton, Scranton, Thinker; H. S. Hollister, Avoca, Flasher Boy and Strath Blue.

OBITUARY.

THOMAS OLIVER, a resident of Carbondale almost half a century, and a citizen of the highest worth, passed away Saturday morning in the fullness of his years at his home, 88 Wyoming street. Death was due to his old age. Mr. Oliver was born in Linby, Yorkshire, England, on September 30, 1816. On May 19, sixty-three years ago, he was wedded to Mary Hallowell, of Yorkshire, and their happy union continued until about two years ago, when Mrs. Oliver passed away. She was the old age of 85 years. On March 19, 1882, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver came to this city. Mr. Oliver taking charge of the old "Oliver" pump house which was used to pump the water from the old "dip" of the Delaware & Hudson, which was located alongside the old gravity in the rear of Brooklyn street. Mr. Oliver had not worked for a number of years.

Mr. Oliver was a worthy citizen and merited the respect and affection which he was held. He took a deep interest in the affairs of the city and was always proud to see it take a forward step. His life was well spent and his death deplored for the higher life was filled with his consolation.

Mr. Oliver is survived by one daughter, Mrs. H. Lister, who lived with her father; one son, H. Oliver, a prominent merchant of Pittston; five grand-children, Mrs. Emma Hall and H. O. Lister, who lived with their grandfather; Alfred Lister, of Scranton; head of the Delaware & Hudson company's nine department engineering corps, Mrs. James Austin and Mrs. Charles Austin, of Pittston. Five great-grand-children also remain. They are: Marjorie Lister, of Scranton; Annie Austin and Olive, Thomas and Edward Austin, of Pittston. One sister, living in England also survives.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon. Services will be conducted at the home, No. 88 Wyoming street, at 2 o'clock by Rev. H. J. Whalen, D. D., and interment will follow in Maplewood cemetery.

MRS. BRIDGET KANE succumbed yesterday to a paralytic stroke. Her death took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Corrigan, on Pike street.

The deceased was born in Ireland three quarters of a century ago, but she lived in Carbondale since her childhood, having settled in Carbondale when it was a wilderness. Her life was that of a true Christian and there will be many prayers for her spiritual welfare. Her survivors are two daughters, Mrs. John Corrigan and Mrs. Patrick Caviston.

DR. HENRY CORSON, who died at the home of James Arthur in Forest City, Thursday, and who was buried from the home of his son, Dr. Corson, in Waymart, was perhaps the oldest person living in the state at the time of his death. He was born near Camden, N. J., March 15, 1794, which would give him the distinction of reaching his 108th year. Dr. Corson spent most of his time as a practitioner in Susquehanna county, having practiced in Susquehanna, Monroe and Harford. Since 1882 has lived at different intervals in Hantsburg, Williams and Forest City. He was a man of remarkable ways, and up to the time of death his faculties were marvelously well-preserved. Dr. Corson is survived by his widow and two sons, Dr. Frank Corson, of Waymart, and Dr. Charles Corson, of Rileysville; two daughters, Mrs. Hattie wife of G. R. Richmond, and Mrs. Lavona Merrill, wife of Rev. G. R. Merrill, of Smithville Flats, N. Y. The services were conducted yesterday afternoon by Rev. Mr. Merrill. Burial took place in the cemetery at Canaan.

Closed Successful Engagement.

The Franke stock company closed its successful engagement at the Grand on Saturday with two performances, afternoon and evening.

In the afternoon "An American Princess" was played before a large audience and gave entire satisfaction. Miss Beatrice Hodgins won the ladies' gold watch.

In the evening "Pawn Ticket No. 219" was well given. The gold watch was won by Will Nealon, of South Main street.

The members of the company gave splendid satisfaction during their extended stay here and will be royally welcomed on their return next season. Miss Nina Gennell, the sourette, has a host of friends here by her clever acting and her cute manners.

To epitomize in the words of Colonel McComb, she is good, clever, pleasing, bewitching, subtle, talented, pretty and graceful.

THE MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

Dyspepsia... Salt Rheum

And Malaria cured by DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY.

"During the civil war," writes Jas. Long, of 395 Third Street, Troy, N. Y., to Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., the discoverer of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

contracted salt rheum and malarial fever and have been bothered with them ever since, have had quite a little of erysipelas too, my arms and legs would break out all over with horrible sores which were very painful.

I took various medicines but they did me no good, then began to use Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy with the result that my arms and legs healed up at once, it strengthened me and made me feel like a different man.

Mrs. Chaux, the wife of John Chaloux, of the W. H. Wood Stove Manufacturing Co., of 167 Seventh Avenue, Water, N. Y., says in an open letter addressed to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy: "Constipation is hereditary in our family and we have all been troubled a great deal with it; we have tried all sorts of medicines but none really did the work until one day I saw an advertisement of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and decided to try it. It cured me, in fact all of us, completely, so we are not troubled that way any more. It kept my kidneys and liver in good order and we are all now in excellent health."

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is a perfect blood and nerve medicine. It restores the liver to a healthy condition and cures the worst cases of constipation. It is a certain cure for all diseases peculiar to females. It cures rheumatism, dyspepsia, all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases, gravel, diabetes and Bright's disease.

If you are not already convinced that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is a perfect blood and nerve medicine, you need only have a trial bottle sent you by mail, absolutely free, by sending your name to Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is for sale by all druggists, at $1.00 a bottle, or 6 bottles for $5.00—less than one cent a dose.

Price, $1.00

EYES OF CHILDREN.

How We Injure the Sight of Our Little Ones.

A child's eyes are far-sighted, and it is only for a few moments that it should look at anything nearer than seventy-one yards. And yet from the time it begins to take notice we are forever trying to get it to see things close to it, playthings, our own foolish faces, and I don't know what. The day after it was weaned we start in to teach it to read. As soon as ever we can, we pack it off to kindergarten, there to be instructed in the health-giving arts of braiding colored paper and working at such tasks as would make a grown person's eyes ache.

I have seen school buildings in New York city that the builder ought to go to state's prison for, dark, insanitary holes. We put the child in the public school and tell it to sit right schew, with its nose in a book and be nice and not make a noise, when we know that its nature clamors to run and play and jump and hullo, so as to grow up to be made of meat and not of putty. In some public schools the great truth about play is a wicked waste of time has been recognized to the extent of abolishing even the stinky fifteen minutes' recess doled out in most instances.

When there are playgrounds they are nearly paved with artificial grass, and almost big enough to swing a cat in. Sometimes the play room is in a nice, dark cellar, where the toilet room is. But the child may play after school hours. Oh, bless your heart, we have fixed the all right. Home work. We give them home work to add their brains over by artificial light. And if the child is a girl we plan how we can make her suffer the most prolonged agony possible in her adult life. We choose the critical time and set her at work. Paper can be cut to play better than she ever will, but that isn't it. We want to come as near as possible to killing her without actually doing so. No, your hour isn't up yet, Dorothy. You mustn't right back and answer you come out of that parlor again till you have practiced a full hour, do you hear me?

We keep the poor little things up till all hours, excite them with novels and theaters, feed them on stimulating and relatively unnutritious foods, and encourage them to poison themselves with candy, crunched and gulped down before cane sugar has been digested in the mouth. We give them coffee and tea to set their nerves on a twitter. "Good Lord! What don't we do to kill them? We act like a pack of fools, we parents, and if any of our young ones live to be twenty, are tolerably sound of mind, aren't sick more by half the time and have at least seven teeth that don't ache, it is more by accident than by good judgment. Is it any wonder that the eyes suffer along with the rest of the body?"

But, most of all, it is the crazy notion that the child's mind is developed by reading that is so blame for what ails our children. We want to develop the mind, but you can't beat that into a teacher's head. One of them told me the other day how much better the schools were in Germany than in this country. Little children there, she said, do sums in long divisions much faster than American children. I wanted to shake her. They keep the German children in school almost all the waking day, and the barbarous type they print books in increases the short-sightedness from 30 to 70 per cent. In the lower grades to 60 and even 70 per cent. in the upper grades. No wonder Germans are so prone to suicide! They had rather go to the Bad Place forever than live a little while in Germany.

FORTUNES IN RICE.

Vast Possible Wealth Wasted in a Matrimonial Custom.

"If a fellow throws an old shoe filled with rice after you when you go married this winter, young man, go pick every grain of it up," said a rice enthusiast, "for there is a fortune in it. I was just thinking today about the vast amount of wealth that has been wasted in this way, and it is simply alarming when you come to think of it. I went to the convention of rice men at Crowsley recently, and I learned a few things about rice that I never knew before. Why, the possibilities of a grain of rice will actually make a fellow's head swim.

"Here is a grain which I have been carrying in my pocket since the convention, purely for illustrative purposes. I was reading in the Plaque-miner Protector that one grain of rice would bring in the first year sixty bunches of rice, and that each bunch contained 250 grains, which would give a total yield of 15,000 grains for the first year. Now, the yield during the third year would amount to 15,000 times 25,000,000, on the same basis of computation, which would be 3,750,000,000 grains of rice. Now, I was reading in another paper published in the rice section that there are probably 10,000 grains of rice to the pound, but this is on an approximation. Adopting it as correct, at the end of the third year one grain of rice will produce 37,500,000 pounds of rice, and the rice mathematician, allowing 162 pounds for a barrel of rice, figures that this will amount to 2,382,324 barrels.

"So you can see that I am actually carrying a fortune around here in my vest pocket, and there is plenty of room left, too, for such other things as I may want to put into my pocket. In these figures I have made no allowances for those things which sometimes happen to any kind of seed that may be sown, but there is a good lesson in the calculation at that. When we come to think about the number of grains of rice that have been wasted in the happy practice of tossing an old shoe after the newly married couple we are almost shocked at the extravagance of the world. The rice thrown away in this way since the custom was first launched, would have saved the lives of all the people who have ever starved to death since the world began if it had been allowed to reach its full multiplying possibilities. So I say, young man, when the old shoe is thrown after you go pick every grain of rice up, settle down where rice will grow, and get rich!"
